we accelerate and empower your organization to be part of the new era of digital transformation.

Boost to grow

At Kiltex we are experts in digital transformation through the development of customized software and computer applications.

With a team of professionals with extensive experience and solid knowledge in the sector, we help entrepreneurs, institutions and companies to enhance their presence in the world through innovative and reliable solutions that differentiate them from the rest.

We believe that tomorrow is digital and is one step away from each of us. We also believe that, without adopting new technologies, organisations postpone their growth and sooner than later, may disappear.

The customer our north

So every day we reinvent what the future is for others by using innovative technological tools, agile in their implementation and cutting-substantially improve the reality of each institution or company that hires us and that is a fundamental part of a real digital revolution in an increasingly changing environment.

Our service proposal includes all processes related to software development, such as the correction of existing applications and the creation of programs that replace the current ones, to provide a real solution with effective results and adapting to customer objectives.

Ability and knowledge

We cover all software lifecycle activities, from project management, analysis, research, design, development, testing and deployment. We seek to generate unique digital experiences.

In this way, our work methodology will always be linked to underline and privilege a personalized and unique relationship, based on transforming experiences, reinventing processes and driving your organization to live in the future today.

In short, we seek day after day to imagine, create and generate efficiency in every way, improve decision-making and accelerate the growth of those who hire us.

Mission and vision

IN SHORT, OUR VALUES

Our values are fundamental to us, because they not only determine how we look at what we do or where we want to go, but they determine how we care for our customers, support our people and participate in our work.

In this way we always encourage to be honest, agile, flexible, passionate, collaborative, daring and above all, committed not only to the project but also to continuous learning that will allow us to continue innovating and give unique disruptive responses according to the future we intend to promote.

Our mission is to always generate a synergy between the needs of our customers with the knowledge and experience of each of the professionals who make up Kiltex to provide at the end profitable solutions of strategic value that are oriented to results more than acceptable and of high quality.

Our vision is to become leaders in the development and technological thinking of the region through fostering a culture of collaboration, openness and lifelong learning among all Kiltex members.

To achieve these values and mission, we do so taking into account three decisive factors:

An agile and dynamic project management that allows us to keep our clients engaged and always updated to move forward firmly, generating a synergy between both parties. At the same time, generating working groups with professionals who can solve complex problems while driving immediate results.

And finally, constant training and adoption of the most advanced technology to provide a service with maximum professionalism.

Now, why choose us?

Because we have a team that has a solid command of programming languages and an unrivalled understanding of the processes an organization makes.

Moreover, we are not satisfied with generic solutions. We create tailored services that are tailored to the unique needs of those who need our services by carefully selecting the perfect combination of technologies for each project and disruptive ideas.

And finally, because every day we work under a culture that favors trust, transparency in results, growth and excellence among our employees, partners and stakeholders through building long-term business relationships that empower all of them.

Our work process

At Kiltex we started by listening to it and with an open mind about the ideas that are presented to us. We try to understand your context, existing ideas and identify what flaws you think your organization has and how we can help you explore possible solutions.

Then, as a team, we encourage research and debate that allows us to fully understand what is proposed to us and provides a space for exploration, validation, exchange of ideas and overcoming our instincts to create together something beautiful and impactful.

Thus, at the end of the road, we will get the development of a quality result.

Our customers

Some of the companies we work with help them achieve success and improve their results through the perfect combination of innovation, technical excellence and permanent delivery of each of the professionals who make up our team.

The change is possible

For some the Future is just a word, something that is said as it happens. For others, however, like Us, the Future is the place where one wants to be: with eyes wide open, with all its potential in motion and understanding that they are the first in their sector.

Let's talk and be part of Kiltex from now on.
